Workspace Not workplace

“It’s time to shift your focus from the wider workplace and concentrate on the workspace right in front of you.”

Even before the pandemic, the working world was in constant change.

As we emerge from this seismic shift, where you work is becoming irrelevant. How you work, productivity, and outputs are becoming the focus. It is more and more important to be able to quickly and efficiently get up and running wherever you are. On your kitchen table, at a shared desk, in a coffee shop.

Hotbox has cleverly designed products that allow you to define your workspace anywhere. We create products for a wide range of workplaces from large office setups to lone business nomads.

It’s time to shift your focus from the wider workplace and concentrate on the workspace right in front of you.
